Time/Schedule: 2 Hours

Topic delivery:

The consultant will ask each manufacturer to complete a survey to better understand their current health and safety culture, as well as any specific health and safety related questions the manufacturer may have.

This will allow the consultant to incorporate applicable information in the sessions to be delivered.

The consultant will develop and deliver a virtual 'group' information session (up to 90 minutes in length) of topics of commonality. For example: survey results states 90% of manufacturers need COVID related legislation support – this information would be included in the 90 minute group session. This virtual session will be run on up to three separate occasions (dates TBD).

Manufacturers can attend multiple times and/or send several staff members to the session.

Within approximately two weeks of the group session, manufacturers will receive one-on-one consultation for up to 2 hours in a topic/area of the manufacturers' choice.

Example:

2 hr virtual meeting to discuss machinery operations/safety

2 hr virtual meeting with an industrial hygienist to help expose hazards in your workplace

In advance of the consulting session, the consultant may request that manufacturers provide information such as photos, videos, etc in order to derive as much benefit as possible from the session. The consultant will provide a platform for manufacturers to upload the information.
